MEASLES OUTBREAK

Measles cases have been skyrocketing in the U.S. this year, with 626 reported so far, according to the CDC. Worldwide, the number of reported cases jumped 300% in the first three months of 2019 compared to the same time period in 2018, according to the World Health Organization. Learn why it's happening and how to protect your family from this potentially deadly disease.

What is measles? Measles is a contagious disease spread by a virus. It's so contagious that when someone has measles, 90% of the people around them who aren't immune will also catch it. And it's so serious that one in four people who get measles will need to be hospitalized.

What are the symptoms of measles? Seven to 14 days after exposure, symptoms begin with a high fever, cough, runny nose, and red, watery eyes. Several days after that, the measles rash appears.

Why has measles come back? Measles was declared eliminated in the U.S. in 2000, 3 decades after the vaccine was introduced. But in recent years, "A critical number of parents have chosen not to vaccinate their children," says Paul Offit, MD, director of the Vaccine Education Center at Children's Hospital of Philadelphia. "When that happens, measles -- the most contagious of vaccine-preventable illnesses -- is often the first to come back."

Where have there been measles outbreaks 2019? The CDC defines an outbreak as three or more cases. The largest outbreak this year has been in New York City, with nearly 300 cases concentrated in an Orthodox Jewish community in the Williamsburg area of Brooklyn. New York City Mayor Bill de Blasio declared a public health emergency April 9 and said unvaccinated residents living in certain ZIP codes that had been exposed to the virus must get the vaccine to help prevent further spread of the disease. Residents who refuse may face a violation and possible fine of $1,000. A group of parents is suing the city's public health department to block the order. Rockland County, north of the city, also had a sizable outbreak, as did counties in Washington state, Michigan, New Jersey, and California. Individual cases have been confirmed in 14 other states.

How dangerous is it? There is no treatment, and it can cause serious health complications, especially in small children. Currently, five patients in New York City have been admitted to the intensive care unit. In general, one out of every 10 children with measles get an ear infection, which can lead to permanent hearing loss. And one or two out of every 1,000 will die.

Who's most at risk of measles? About 500,000 people in the U.S. can't be vaccinated because of severe allergies or a weakened immune system, says Offit. Those people rely on everyone else's vaccinations.

How is measles spread? People with measles can spread the disease up to 4 days before their symptoms appear. When an infected person coughs or sneezes, the virus sprays into the air, where it lingers or lands on surfaces. The virus can live outside a human body for up to 2 hours -- so even if you enter an empty room, if you don't have immunity, you can become infected.

NEWS FROM TAYLORSVILLE-WINFIELD

Submitted by PDS Barbara Brimigion

DONATIONS TO SCHOOL MEDIA CENTER: It has been at least 13 years since we first started to donate money toward the purchase of books for the media centers at South Carroll High School and Winfield Elementary School. Once again, Chair Scott Marchie invited the media specialist from each school to come and display the books which they purchased with our monetary donations. Kim Johnson, Media Specialist at South Carroll High and Samantha Stitely, Media Specialist at Winfield Elementary,, thanked our club for raising funds to purchase their books.

The South Carroll High books included some that were printed in Spanish. Winfield Elementary books included some of the I Survived series by Lauren Tanhis and published by Scholastic which tells a terrifying and thrilling story from history, through the eyes of a lad who lived to tell the tale.

SENIORS ON THE GO! For the fourth year in a row, our club participated with Deer Park Lions and Freedom District Lions in sharing an exhibitor's table at the Senior Expo which was held at the AG Center In Westminster. The event was organized by the Carroll County Commissioners and the Bureau of Aging and Disabilities. Admission was free and included health screenings, demonstrations, seminars, and exhibitions. Lions Forrest Hudspeth, Bob Garber, Ji Lutz, Bobbie Reeder, and Barb Brimigion manned the table again this year at times during the event's opening from 9am to 2pm with the other two clubs. There were a few pieces of medical equipment on hand. We handed out our club brochures and answered questions posed by visitors. A bowl of candy was the incentive to bring the public to our table.

MAY SPEAKER FROM RCIS: Janice Kispert, CEO of RCIS (Rape Crisis Intervention Service of Carroll County) will be our speaker.

RCIS serves people age 12 years and older, male and female, significant others, victims of sexual violence, regardless of the length of time since the assault. Women are not the only victims of rape and sexual assault. In fact, one in every ten victims of rape is male (Source: Rape Incest and Abuse National Network). Male victims are even less likely than female victims to report the crime or to seek help and support. Men suffer many of the same effects of sexual assault as women and at times their reactions are more profound. Men often suffer an exaggerated sense of self blame, guilt, and anger.

Come hear the facts!

UPDATE—MARCH 2019

For the past eight years LVRF has been funding a fellowship program for post-doctoral students specializing in low vision at the Wilmer Eye Institute using the annual donations from the Lions of MD22. Two years ago LVRF decided to work towards establishing an endowment to fund the fellowship. At the last board meeting, the LVRF trustees voted to formally establish the Lions Vision Center Fellowship Endowment Fund with Wilmer to build towards the endowment. To kick off the fund, LVRF will be making an initial donation of $250,000! Way to go Lions!

Speaking of donations, on-line donations can now be made via the LVRF website so you can donate electronically rather than by check if you like.

The MD22 convention is fast approaching. Don't forget to stop by the LVRF booth and bid on several silent-auction items – items include four individual round-trip tickets on Southwest airlines to anywhere in the continental United States (each ticket is an individual item up for bid) and an assortment of quality jewelry donated by Smyth Jewelers. In addition to the auction items, there will be LVRF polo shirts for sale as well as information on the LVRF activities.

The LVRF booth will be accessible on Mon, May 13th from 1 to 5 pm, Tue, May 14th from 9 to 11:45 am and from 2 to 5 pm, and on Wed, May 15th from 10 am to 12:15 pm. Stop by and place a bid on these great items!

LVRF is teaming with the Clarksville Lions Club on a Golf Tournament scheduled for Jun 7th at Fairway Hills in Columbia, MD. Please see the attached registration form for golfers or for signing up sponsors for the event.

Bi-monthly Dinner Programs

The Sharpsburg Lions Club is hosting bi-monthly dinner programs for only $5.00.

May 9

Keith Snyder, Chief of Resource Education and Visitor Services at the Antietam National Battlefield will discuss

The Marines Land in Sharpsburg

The largest event ever to take place in Sharpsburg, after the Battle of Antietam, was in 1924 when the Marine Expeditionary Force marched to Antietam for a twelve day training encampment. They brought aircraft, tanks, balloons, machine guns plus their band and baseball team. See numerous historic photos of this somewhat unknown event in the history of the park.

The dinner programs will start at 7:00pm and be held at St Paul's Episcopal Church, 209 W. Main Street

Please RSVP by May 6th to sharpsburglions@gmail.com
