CHILDHOOD CANCER

The most common childhood cancers are leukemias, which are cancers of the bone marrow and blood.

While childhood cancer is a potentially life-threatening condition requiring intensive treatment, the majority of pediatric cancers are treatable. Thanks to recent advances in therapies, many forms of childhood cancer are curable using a combination of treatments, including surgery, radiation, and chemotherapy.

February 15th is International Childhood Cancer Day

The International awareness symbol for Childhood Cancer is the gold ribbon. Gold is a precious material and children are precious treasures.
