

Submitting your Service Report is like sending an email.....

When you draft an email, you check that your email addresses are correct, the subject line is filled, you've got the details in the body of your email, and any signatures and attachments are included. But if you don't hit the SEND button, it doesn't go anywhere.

Same thing when you report your Service Projects on the Portal. Whether it's the Secretary, the Club Administrator, or any member of your club filling out the Service Project report, you go through the steps, add all the information requested, note the details, number of volunteers and volunteer hours, how many people served, any funds raised/donated, select the right category code (one of the Global Causes?) and then hit SAVE when you get to the bottom; but you're not done yet. Now, at the top right of the screen there's a white box with green letters that says Report to LCI. That's like the SEND button on your email. Click that, and now instead of saying Ready to Report, your activity is shown as Reported. Secretaries: Please check your Service reports and if there's any that show as Draft or Ready to Report, please finish them up, so they are completed.

Club Visitations!

We have some pretty awesome Lions, and Lions Clubs, in our District. Most recently, DG September visited the Orcas Island Lions, an incredibly active club that has been making a difference for almost 55 years! In the last two weeks, we also visited the Arlington Lions Club, Oak Harbor Lions, Seattle University Ballard Lions and Bellingham Central Lions. Making connections with so many interesting and dedicated Lions is one of the best parts of being a District Governor.

Arlington Lions President Ryan Berg, celebrating Mariachi Day with Anna Corina Villareal from Oak Harbor Lions, presenting Orcas Island President Eric Heyn with his official “muppet” portrait, getting everyone in the selfie from Seattle University Ballard, and presenting Chevrons to Wes Reynolds and Patty Allen-White of Bellingham Central.

Calendar: February is a busy month for club visits! District Governor September will be visiting the following clubs this week:

Tuesday, February 3rd: Everson Lions Club
Wednesday, February 4th: Coupeville Lions Club
Thursday, February 5th: Coupeville Central Whidbey Lions Club
Thursday, February 5th: Sedro Woolley Lions Club

For more info on the visitation schedule, go to our District Website for the up to date Visitation Schedule, go to www.19olions.org
