Whether you are new to the iPhone or you have just updated your existing to iOS 7, one of the first things you would like to do is load on the app that show it . Fortunately there are many updated apps to support the new interface. We kept track of all the app updates we saw coming and here are some of our favorite absolute apps When it comes to showing the brand new look and the feeling of iOS 7! Tweetbot 3 Tweetbot has long been a favorite among iOS users when it comes to Twitter customers and for a good reason; It is a feature packed towards the edge and has always had a user interface to die. Tweetbot 3 can be a new purchase but it's a completely new app that is just as refined and created as the latest version. If you like the appearance and feeling of iOS 7 and you want a Twitter client to combine it, you will not be disappointed. Fantastic 2 is not only fantastic 2 one of the best calendar apps for iOS, it's also one of the most beautiful. The first version of fantastic fit with the appearance and feeling of iOS well, but fantastic, 2 leads to a completely new level. Not only that, combines calendars and reminders for the first time ever. Not to mention the much more elegant solution than the native Apple apps in our opinion. MyFitnessPal if they monitor calories and workouts is your thing, MyFitnessPal not only does it do it free of charge. The general interface had not been updated so long ago, so when I saw a new update coming, I was shelled shell when I opened the app, but in a good way. The menus are easier to read and navigate and fonts and menus have been updated to look better at iOS 7. If you are looking for a weight loss or a training companion, check MyFitnessPal if you don't already do it. LAUNCH CENTER PRO LAUNCH CENTER PRO The contrast (previously Cubby App) is the app to have if you want to easily access and shortcuts to all your things in less than two facets. With customizable menus and actions, your iPhone is yours to be commanded. We loved the past versions and the iOS 7 Ready version is no exception. With flattened menus, a new icon and updated graphics, there is a lot of pleasure. The mileage register + the Log of the kilometers +, which is also for contrasting app, is a splendid kilometer tracker specifically created for iOS 7. Those who used the Cubby trip should be familiar with many of the functionality as it is practically an update. Additional features now include the automatic path estimate, splendid maps, color coding and more. If Apple has performed a Milcheage Tracker application, it could very well seem like the mileage register +. \$ 9.99 - [Download now ([ Foursquare Foursquare is the favorite check-in service of all and is already updated with support for iOS 7. From the bar menu to the keypad style of the updated keyboard, He deceived the existing interface with elements that make them flow much better with iOS 7. The icon also received a revision. If you are a ruzzequare user greedy, you definitely want to take the update. REEDER 2 When Google Reader Bit dust, the original REEDER app has done little but updated to add support for power supply. Saying that reeder 2 was it was the wait is an understatement. With an icon completely new interface, a set of characters, and more, is a hofix that spikes in apps running on iOS 7 should look like. If you need an app to access RSS feeds from, Reeder is one of the best around. Note Reeder 2 is currently only available for iPhone. A Mac version will be updated later. PCalc One of the most used app on all of our iPhone is a calculator. What you're imagining a suggestion or do school work, a calculator is a staple for most devices that we use today. PCalc was updated for iOS 7 and has tons of new themes along with some updates, to the latest functionality. Rdio Rdio was not technically updated for iOS 7 but still looks fantastic. It's actually been one of my favorite apps when it comes to designing a long time. Everything from the menu transparency on how the entire interface flows so great together. Oh, and I said that's pretty much one of the best apps of all time streaming? The perfect app of the weather are something most of us, if not all of us have on our iPhone. While the weather app for the iPhone native is updated to iOS 7 is missing a lot of information that some of us want as radar maps and additional information on current conditions. If you want a happy medium between great interface and feature set, it's the perfect time. The conversion amount app can help you convert all kinds of things on the distance from currencies to pretty much anything else. The amount combines virtually every kind of conversion you'd like to perform in an app easy to use and beautiful. It has also been updated for iOS 7 and it looks amazing. It's also one of our favorite currency conversion app as well. OmnicFocus 2 If you are a user or OmnicFocus're in the market for a new app for managing tasks, OmnicFocus 2 is now available and the entire design is built around iOS 7 and better usability. I recently [revised OmnicFocus 2] (and it came out pretty impressed with the improvements not only in terms of design, but with the overall ease of use than previous versions. If you do not currently have a workflow for of business applications, make sure you check out. OmnicFocus for Mac has been one of our favorite todo applications for OS X as well. TeeVee 2 TeeVee 2 is a small amazing application which is said in one glance when your programs favorites are, you can view episode summaries, descriptions of different shows, and also receive alerts for upcoming events if you choose. While TeeVee 2 has not specifically been updated for iOS 7 still works fine already and just fits interface right in, and furnished with taste and in a sense it reminds me of the clean look and feel of Rdio. and this is a good thing. GetGlue GetGlue received a agjornment or a little "time ago, which made one of the first applications to start the trend of making the flat icons to match iOS 7, the entire application received the same treatment. It dig all gradients and structured menus in favor of much simpler interface. Not only that, the update brings with it  $\hat{c}$  pages much better information about the TV shows and movies that make it even easier to join the conversation, and view all the information that you may want in a particular security. Calendars 5 of 5 Readdle is one of my favorite alternative calendars applications because  $\hat{c}$  supports natural language input. Just tell it what you want to add to the calendar and you can do all the heavy lifting for you. You can even group your memories in one app as an all in one solution. The update 5 was designed with iOS 7 in mind and it is undoubtedly one of the best Readdle applications ever released. If you are looking for an alternative calendar app, calendars 5 should be towards the top of your list. Google+, Google Maps, Gmail, etc. The official Google applications still have to be officially updated for iOS 7 but most work well and great look. Many people have pointed out in the past that Google has succeeded in nailing the iOS 7 interface and designed again in Apple. Theirs Applications for iPhone are a testimony of this theory as practically all of them seem to belong to iOS 7. Do you believe me? Try one of them for yourself and see what you think. Google+, free - [Download Now] (/ id447119634 a = 10l3vy & ct = d im?) Google search, Free - Download Google Maps now , Free - Download now Gmail, Free - Download now Google Drive, Free - Download TwitterRific TwitterRific 5 now been updated to version 5.5 and brings with a more elegant interface also moving your attention completely to your timeline. A few months ago, TwitterRIFIC 5 has launched with a completely redesigned interface that was already very similar iOS 7. The new refine version a lot of interface, as well as added new features such as support for Safari Reading List bookmarks, more gesture support, The possibility of opening the links in Chrome, and more. Cal Cal is an alternative calendar app that adds profoundness and life for planning meetings and events. You can connect CAL with your facebook to the end of import friends and other information. It is pulled from your IOS Native Contacts as well. If the native app calendar in iOS 7 is a bit too flat and simple for you, Cal has a look and feel that it still belongs, but still manages to not be so boring. Any do any do is from the creators themselves of cal and look at home on ios 7. The two applications can work hand in the hand quite well too, so if you want a task manager to pack with cal, there is not Best choice than Any.do. Fortunately, the layout is just as big and also looks like it was done for iOS 7. Serene is one of the best minimal tasks available for iPhone. With its beautiful guided interface gesture, there is nothing more bare or simple bones than clear. Pinch to close lists, scroll down to add voices, and switch between many gradient color themes. Any other type of simple lists of activities is fantastic. It is already part of iOS 7, but with the new update, it is even more refined with typography update and more. Screens 3 screens is one of our favorite VNC customers and when it comes to screen sharing, but does not get much better. Screens 3 has just been released a completely new app and leads a whole new interface that is done to compliment the new design in iOS 7. If you have used screens in the past, you will already know how much it is Simple the process setup and actual use is. If you want a plug and play sharing option of the screen, it's one of the best options outside. And it's even more beautiful. eBay If you have an eBay account and regularly sell or buy items, you will be happy to know that eBay has already been updated with iOS 7 compatibility. Not only that, the entire interface has been updated to match the graphic aspect of iOS 7. More gestures were also adding to the search shot. Improvements have also been made looking for buyer profiles and favorite seller. Flipboard Flipboard was a long time favorite when it comes to reading the news on iPhone and iPad. It has been updated with support for iOS 7 including a cold parallax function that leads impressive visual characteristics for magazine covers. Using the parallax function, magazines literally come to life. It is a great example of what developers can do with the depth of iOS 7. Pixter Pixter Scanner has been updated a little backwards specifically to update the interface to be more similar iOS 7. In reality it was one of the Extremely first applications that I saw that actually updated the interface to match. Not only that Pixter is one OCR application (optical character recognition) that works great for scanning and translating or storing large text blocks. If it sounds like a type of application you would need, don't look over Pixter. Apple Store Apple Store has been updated with the icon of a completely redesigned and all new layout inside the app to match the iOS 7 look and feel. If you have never used the Apple Store application before, it is not  $\hat{r}$  just a great way to browse and buy buy Products directly from your iPhone, you can also look genius bar appointments, check the locations and hours of the store and more. Shazam & Shazam Encore Shazam allows you to tag any song you hear on TV or radio in seconds. From there you can access the iTunes store to buy music in one touch. You can also see the recommendations and share your tags with friends. The new iOS 7 update gives the shazam user interface always better. Shazam, free - Download Now Shazam Encore, \$ 6.99 - Download OpenTable OpenTable now for real iPhone Sit down easily to book dinner for thousands of restaurants in a few touches. It also ties with Siri that makes the search for information, directions, hours and reviews on a simple restaurant. The Opentible 6.0 update has made the interface corresponding to that of the rest of iOS 7 as well as making the search even simpler. The final finish is a super popular task management app for iPhone and one that has had one of the best interfaces for quite a while. Now it was completely redone and is built specifically for iOS 7. With new features like airplane support and repeated activities, it is better than ever. Evernote Evernote is one of the apps to take the apps to take the apps and is supported by tons of apps and developers around the world. The latest update is a complete re-elaboration with support not only iOS 7 but a new new interface that makes the search and access to your notes more easier. Byword ByWord supports Markdown and simple text editing from iPhone and iPad. Their universal app has just been updated with support for iOS 7. Includes an updated interface that loses linen textures and adds new menus and a much cleaner interface. It also adds the highlighting of Markdown syntax, the best navigation and support for airplane advantage. Mailbox The popular alternative mail client's mailbox has also been updated with support for iOS 7 that go more light, cleaner and faster. Some menu items try to have been re-organized to make objects commonly used even more quickly. If you are a Gmail user and you are not satisfied with the default mail application, check the mailbox.
