If the company is incorporated, include the incorporation ending exactly as it appears. Example: "Incorporated" or "Inc.", "Limited" or "Ltd." The analysis is given for a business name using the English alphabet. If your business name is based on a language other than English please include the alphabet and identify the letters used as vowels. If the company is very large, it may not be registered under the name by which it is known. In this case the analysis will be only partially accurate. Create a refined and individual personality, a happy and generous one. Develop clean and tidy habits, body cleanliness, and a clean mind. Be conservative, yet creative, in your dress. Avoid showiness in dress and loudness in speech. Make others want to pattern themselves after you: that is a well-deserved compliment, and indicates adherence to Kabalarian ethics of right thinking. -Alfred J. Parker Think always in the spirit of "we", this is universal thinking and breeds tolerance and understanding. Remember, what makes you happy will also make others happy. So, learn to share in your thinking and actions. We are all our brother's keeper, and evolve only as a family. -Alfred J. Parker I cannot stress too deeply the importance of one's constructive mental attitude toward life. One gets out of life only what one puts into it; everything must be seeded in different degrees. Always express happy thoughts and keep an uncomplaining mind. A complaining mind is a destructive one-destructive to health and happiness. How easily we may be made unhappy depends upon the weakness and ignorance of our own minds. Happy thoughts expressed are like the sunbeams that create warmth-that stimulate one's sense of well being and make us feel happy. Give happiness and you will receive it in return: it is a natural phenomenon of a balanced and well-ordered mind. Do not complain; instead seek the solution to the problem, and then you can do something constructive about it. This can best be accomplished by forgetting self; too much false value is placed upon self and personality, thus developing an overrated and inflated ego that sees all things in proportion to its own ignorance. -Alfred J. Parker It's great to be alive! -Kabalarian Teachings Link to master list of quotes The Kabalarian Philosophy teaches constructive living based on an understanding of the physical, mental, and spiritual laws. These principles provide the key to understanding how to control life to bring into reality the happiness, mental freedom, and personal success that everyone seeks. In today's world, there exists a need for a practical, logical lifestyle that provides the means for self-development and mental progress towards a more universal concept. The struggle to understand one's true purpose in life, one's spiritual relationship to all things, and to fulfil one's destiny when it is known, has been part of humanity's existence always. Many theories offer some answers but for many people there is a lack of tangible reality in such theories, leaving the challenge of everyday living in a state of confusion as to what values in life should be used as a standard of measurement. The Kabalarian Philosophy teaches that life should reflect constructive growth and evolution to a higher state of intelligent expression. Such constructive growth is based on the refinement of life and the improvement of humanity's intelligence to reflect greater harmony, purpose, and the attainment of universal ideals. When we learn to live in harmony with the laws of life to which we are subordinate and when we direct our efforts to fulfill our potential as a channel for universal intelligence, we will evolve mentally and spiritually to create a world of universal understanding of all people and establish peace and harmony for all through an enlightened intellect. It allows a concept to grow to become the expression of that universal potential. -Kabalarian Teachings Love without possession is the great secret of a happy life. -Alfred J. Parker Nothing truly stops you. Nothing truly holds you back, for your own will is always within your control. Sickness may challenge your body. But are you merely your body? -Epictetus It is easy to desire to be good, to progress, to change, but it only happens when we apply and actually do the work necessary for the desired change. Wishful thinking never made anyone rich, beautiful, or happy. Only honest accomplishment does that. -Kabalarian Writings Link to master list of quotes The energies in your names create your life, your personality, your likes and dislikes, your ideals, and the conditions and experiences you will attract. Edison There is more to giving than just doing. It is being: being happy, being principled, being considerate and understanding, being a friend in all ways. And that kind of giving comes from within, because it is the outer expression of Universal Love. -Kabalarian Teachings The wind does not talk with more gentleness to giant oaks than to the smallest leaf of grass. -Kahlil Gibran Link to master list of quotes
